PROVINCE HAS
HUGE DEFICIT

(By T. B. Windross)

Edmonton, Alta., Nov. 9.—The Edmonton prosperity certificates cases must go to trial despite the efforts of the province and the city to have them dismissed. Mr. Justice Ford in supreme court chambers, during the past week, refused to dismiss these actions which have been pending for some weeks.

The cases are injunctions taken out to prevent the city of Edmonton from accepting the scrip for use in relief and as payment for civic utilities such as light, water and telephone.

Dr. W. A. R. Kerr, was installed as president of the University of Alberta with becoming dignity and colorful ceremony at Convocation Hall, Thursday, when high education dignitaries representing many Canadian and American universities joined in the tribute to his work and wished him success as president of Alberta's premier educational institution.

It was announced at the same time that Dr. W. H. Alexander was made head of the Arts faculty, and Prof. Edouard Sonet was appointed head of the department of modern languages at the university. Both these appointments as well as that of President Kerr are popular with the student body.

Hon. Norman Rogers, dominion minister of labor, is expected to pay Edmonton a brief one-day visit on Thursday, this week. The minister is paying a visit to western Canada so as to personally study the problem of the single unemployed men. His itinerary will include Vancouver and Edmonton in both of which cities he will personally investigate conditions.

Perhaps the most important news in the provincial government circles during the past week was that contained in the public accounts for the year ending March 31, 1936, just issued at the week-end by Hon. Charles Cockroft, provincial treasurer.

The accounts reveal that there was a deficit in income account of $1,437,503, after allowing for $213,292 increase in income accounts payable. The net deficit for the previous year was $1,738,050, which means there is some improvement in the financial position of the province despite hard sledding.

Some interesting figures were released in the public accounts by the minister. Liquor profits were shown to be $1,802,206. If the loss on provincial telephones is included in the year's deficit it would total $1,939,595 and the same total in the previous year was $2,061,760.

The inquiry into the marketing of Canadian grain being conducted by Mr. Justice Turgon, will hold hearings in Edmonton soon, it was learned this week. It will begin at Winnipeg on December 1, and from there the commission will visit Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver and possibly other western points. It will accept any submissions relating to the production, buying, selling, storing, holding, transporting or exporting Canadian grains and grain products.

It looks now as if the cities of Calgary and Edmonton are playing at tit for tat with the provincial government. The government recently proclaimed its interest reduction act and the city of Edmonton now has followed suit and declared a cut in interest of fifty per cent on its bonds held by

LOUGHEED NEWS.

SATHER-JOHNSON

A quiet wedding was solemnized at Camrose on Saturday evening, October 31st, when Miss Inez Johnson became the bride of Mr. P. Sather, both of Lougheed district. The happy couple will reside on the groom's farm, north of Lougheed.

The snow which fell on Friday and Saturday, to all appearances, is going to stay. I suppose that we'll have to look forward to another long winter.

Mr. Pope expects to leave for Missouri some time this week.

Mrs. F. Sax Sr. went to Calgary late last week. Mrs. Sax received word that her grand daughter, Helen Buide had been injured seriously in a car accident.

The Lougheed Masonic Lodge held a social evening in the hall on Wednesday last. Cards and dancing were enjoyed and lunch was served at 12.

It looks like Lougheed is going to have a hard time getting a skating rink this year. No one seems to have time to promote the project.

Bruce McDougall and family motored to Greenhills on Sunday.

Pete Burden was a guest at the J. Jack home on Sunday.

J. Caudwell and R. McCracken have been getting their milk ranch in shape for winter and it's looking pretty good too.

Recitations by Mrs. Myers and Mrs. Goodwin; reading, Mrs. Hudson, and an accordion solo by Mrs. Vallee, were all much enjoyed. A name contest was won by Mrs. Parsons. A raffle put on by Mrs. Goodwin was won by Mrs. New.

Current events by members and the closing song, "Auld Lang Syne," brought another pleasant afternoon to a close. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Whiteley on December 2nd.

the province, and Calgary is asking for permission to take the same advantage. The next move seems up to the province.

There are 53,297 recipients of direct relief in Alberta, according to figures released from the provincial relief branch this week. The figure for the month of October and is an increase of 2,734 over the number in September.

The provincial government has cancelled all present insurance policies and has placed all government fire insurance on buildings and the provincial telephone system with Lloyd's of England. The insurance represents a total of $7,781,002. The change will mean a saving of around $100,000 to the province, of which a minimum of $50,528 is assured, Hon. E. C. Manning, provincial secretary, announced during the week.

LOCAL CHURCHES UNITE IN IRMA FOR ANNUAL ARMISTICE SERVICE

One of the best Armistice services ever held in Irma took place in Kiefer's hall at 10.45 a.m. on Remembrance Day. This was truly a united service, as those taking part represented the Roman Catholic, Anglican and United churches and the Salvation Army. The regular order of service was followed with the exception that two addresses were given instead of only one. The weather was ideal for such an occasion and a large number availed themselves of the opportunity to attend. The ex-service men paraded to the hall led by the L.O.L. five and drum band. Comrade W. T. Steele, president of the Irma branch, presided. Mr. John Hardy, of the Salvation Army, read the following prayer, specially written for the occasion:

"Hear our prayer, O Lord.

"O God the Father of all men, we recall at this hour the sailors and soldiers of every nation who at the call of duty were swift to obey even unto travail and death. We remember how they held their lives cheaply for what in faith they believed to be the greater good of mankind. Before their sacrifice we bow in wonder and penitence and contrition.

"We pray Thee to inspire the peoples of the world with such a hatred of war that they may never seek its coming. Make us all willing to die for our country, but show us yet a holier cause for which to sacrifice our lives, and a more Christ-like way of giving our all for the Kingdom of God.

"Grant to the rulers of the nations faith in the cause of peace, and give to the citizens of the world a new and stern passion for the brotherhood of mankind.

"Break Thou the spell that seeks to put country before the commonwealth of Christ. Crucify our insularity, our self-centredness, our national pride. Make a new tie of blood sacrifice between us all, so that men everywhere may be able to stand by side in equal worth and real freedom.

"O Thou Father of all the nations, draw Thy foolish, erring children into new and holier relationships at the foot of Christ's Cross, that peace may come at last on earth. Amen."

This prayer was followed by the reading of the Scripture lesson, Rev. 21:1-7, by Comrade J. P. Yeend of St. Mary's Anglican church, Irma.

The two minute silence was observed at eleven o'clock. The names on the Irma Honor Roll, eighteen in number, were read off by Comrade Steele and the wreath deposited by Nurse Adams.

This was followed by an inspiring address by Rev. Comrade E. F. Kemp, pastor of the Irma United church. After singing the hymn, "O Valiant Hearts," Comrade Father J. E. McGrane, of St. Theresa Roman Catholic church, Irma, delivered a wonderful address, paying a special tribute to our late King George V.

Rev. Comrade Kemp pronounced the benediction and the service closed with our National Anthem. Mrs. E. Caprini-Winkel very graciously presided at the piano.

BADMINTON CLUB

Some time ago there was a notice in the Irma Times with regard to the formation of a badminton club. This club has now been organized by the Teachers' Association of the Irma district. Kiefer's hall has been rented for the purpose and badminton will be played every Wednesday evening from 7 o'clock on, and every Saturday from 1 o'clock in the afternoon until 11 p.m.

Everyone interested is invited to become a member of the club and play the game. With a membership of 40 (which is expected) the fee for membership will be 50c a month for the rent of the hall. There will also be a charge of about 60c for the season to cover the equipment in the line of racquets and shuttlecocks, etc., which the club will furnish.

A time schedule will be drawn up to make sure that everyone gets a chance to play. It is therefore urged that those wishing to play register with one of the undersigned and arrange themselves into groups of four (which may be changed from time to time) in order that a place may be found for them on the schedule.

United Church Notes

Services for next Sunday, Nov. 15: Paschendale, 11 a.m.; Crescent Hill, 8 p.m.; Irma 7.30 p.m.

Last year at this time the out of town services had to be discontinued owing to heavy road conditions; this was rather exceptional, as usually weather conditions have permitted the holding of services well up towards the end of the year. So will the friends at the different points please note that the services will be continued as long as the weather and roads are favorable.

At a meeting held after the service in the Irma United church last Sunday evening it was decided to proceed with the organization of a young people's society, and a committee was appointed to make the preliminary arrangements. It is hoped that some of the leaders in the Wainwright society will be present at the organization meeting to help with their advice, as they have the benefit of a year or two's experience in this work.

NEW PACKING
PLANT IN CITY

The new million dollar packing house, erected last summer in Edmonton, Alberta, by Canada Packers, Limited, was officially opened on Wednesday, November 4th, by Mayor Jos. A. Clarke, K.C., in the presence of over five hundred invited guests, including members of the Alberta cabinet, deputy ministers, civic officials, heads of most of the livestock organizations of Alberta and representatives of the Wholesale and Retail meat trade and other distinguished visitors.

Speakers at the opening ceremony, which was staged in the enclosed loading platform of the plant, were Premier William Aberhart; R. A. Wright, president of Western Canada Livestock Union; Hon. Senator Arthur Meighen, and J. S. McLean, president of Canada Packers Limited.

The plant is an outstanding example of what can be done in an industrial building to combine pleasing appearance with utility and efficiency. It is equipped with the most modern machinery and will have a killing capacity of 4,500 hogs weekly, besides cattle, sheep and lambs.

All speakers at the official opening ceremonies congratulated Canada Packers upon their wisdom in establishing so fine a packing plant in Alberta. Mr. McLean stated it was his conviction that Alberta, which already stands second in hog production amongst the provinces of the Dominion will within a short time stand first. "Witness this expectation is realized," he said, "all the packing house facilities in Edmonton, including Canada Packers, will be less than sufficient to handle the hogs.

After the close of the opening ceremonies, the plant was thrown open to the public and was viewed with interest by thousands of visitors from Edmonton and the surrounding district.

The erection of this important plant at this time is concrete evidence of the faith of Canada Packers Limited in the future of Alberta, and of the West generally. It also gives to the livestock producers of Western Canada further access to the markets of Eastern Canada and Europe, which are served extensively by Canada Packers Limited.

"A feature of the sessions of the recent General Council has been evidently strong fraternal feeling that has grown up among the various Protestant churches in recent years. All the deputations from other churches who have conveyed greetings have emphasized the fact and pointed to the necessity for it in their common interest, and in a time of world chaos and crisis." — From a Newspaper report.

Homework --- How Much?

The present trend towards the reduction and perhaps ultimately the elimination of departmental, or external examinations for students in public and high schools is a step in the right direction, if for no other reason than that it should result as its corollary, in the reduction in the amount of homework demanded of pupils and especially those in their early teens.

Reports on the subject presented at the recent annual convention of the Canadian Education Association in Regina by a committee set up to study the subject of examinations in schools showed that the three prairie provinces, in confining departmental examinations to grade 11 and 12 students, that is, in the last two years of high school, are in the van of the movement to curtail the evils resulting from the rigidity which such a system necessarily entails.

It is not difficult to divine that the curtailment of the external examination system will result in more moderate assignment of homework in the public schools and at least in the first two grades in high school. It has already done so to some extent, but even yet there is good reason to believe that in many classrooms, both rural and urban, too much is expected from children after school hours.

And this is particularly the case where children in the last two grades of public school and the first two grades of high school are involved. Children of these ages have reached a critical, physical formative period and during these years are laying a health foundation which will serve them good or ill in adult years. During this adolescent period, while mental development must not, of course, be neglected, physical development should not be cramped by eliminating much needed opportunities for recreation and health-giving physical activity.

With the incentive of the teacher to pile up homework for the students removed by the abolition of departmental examinations in the particular grades referred to, there is no longer any reason why children should be over-burdened, to the possible detriment of health.

This was recognized by the school medical officer of the London (England) County Council in 1929 when he wrote in his report:

"It is clear that school authorities who take it upon themselves to set work which is not done under their immediate supervision take upon themselves a very heavy responsibility. It is their duty to consider the result not merely upon scholastic advancement but upon health and physique in every individual case, and in every individual case it is their duty to ensure that in every 24 hours, there is not only time for work, for meals, for physical exercise and for sufficient sleep, but also healthful relaxation and recreation."

In a handbook for one-teacher elementary schools the State Department of Public Instruction of Pennsylvania decrees:

"In primary grades home study should not be necessary. After the child has acquired the art of reading he should be permitted his own choice to take books home and return them as he chooses to do. If any home study is assigned in the intermediate grades it ought to be very limited. It should deal with such informational subjects as history and geography and the pupil should not be held responsible the next day for having done a definite amount of work. He should be urged to read in these branches."

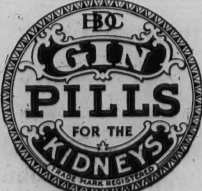

Discussing the same subject in a recent issue of Hygeia, under the caption, "Homework—The Big Bad Wolf of Education," J. F. Rogers made the following suggestions:

"Only work that can be done without help of parents should be assigned; home study should be made a privilege; it should not be too difficult; assignments should be made according to capacity and individual needs and for variety in subsequent class work; . . . home reading should be encouraged; homework should never be assigned as a punishment."

"In brief one may expect and must expect either injury to health or the exhibition of self-protective traits if the homework is either excessive or unsuitable, and there goes along with these results a waste of time which might be spent more educationally."

Railways Aid Development

The greatest single factor in the development, not only of Vancouver but of the whole of Canada, had been the Canadian railway system, N. B. Large Sum Placed On The Queen Mary's Sister Ship

The Cunard-White Star Line announced that Benjamin Wistar Morris, New York architect of the firm of Morris & O'Connor, had been retained as a consultant on the decorations of the projected new sister ship to the Queen Mary.

Grey Wormum, a Londoner, who designed the prize-winning building of the Royal Institute of British Architects, on Portland Place, has been appointed decoration architect of the new vessel. Mr. Wormum is one of a committee of three recently appointed to plan London's coronation decorations.

Insurance of more than £3,250,000 has already been placed by British underwriters on the Queen Mary's sister ship, whose keel will soon be laid at the John Brown shipyard, Clydebank.

This is easily the largest amount ever placed on a single merchant ship in the course of its construction. Brokers in London are confident that the total amount to be accepted in the market will exceed £3,500,000, thus leaving less than £1,000,000 to be made up by the government.

Important London companies that declined to participate in the Queen Mary's insurance have taken large amounts on the new ship. A number of large firms in Liverpool, however, have thus far refused to accept their share, although it is hoped that they will come in before the books are closed.

The coverage will take effect at the beginning of next year and run for not more than 36 months. Building risks are distinct from service risks and apply only while ships are under construction.

The Sunflower

Was Used As Food By North American Indians In Early Days

The sunflower, which is cultivated in Canada mainly for feed for birds and poultry, for ensilage as cattle feed, and as an ornamental plant, is generally recognized as indigenous to North America. It was used as food by the North American Indians, the seeds being eaten raw, or pounded and mixed with other seeds into flat cakes which were dried in the sun. In 1615 Champlain found the Indians in the vicinity of Georgian Bay cultivating the sunflower. The oil which they obtained from the seeds was used for their hair.

B.C. Man Claims Test Of Latest Model Is Success

A new type of helicopter flying machine is undergoing final tests by its inventor, John Hess, at New Westminster, B.C. The inventor claims it is the first successful helicopter for all practical purposes; that it can be lifted and lowered vertically in the air.

During the past 15 years Mr. Hess has studied aeroplanes and done a great deal of building and experimenting. He stated tests of his latest aeroplane had been successful, and that the machine could be kept in the air as long as he wished.

The aeroplane weighs a ton and is powered with a 210 horsepower motor. There are two propellers, one in front and the other at the rear, revolving on vertical shafts.

Each propeller has four blades and is shaped like an umbrella. The forward shaft may be thrown into a horizontal position to drive the aeroplane forward once it is in the air.

The secrets of the machine are well guarded. It is the third helicopter made by Mr. Hess. The first was a model and later he experimented with a 100 horsepower motor machine.

Queer Broadcast Reception

Alberta Folks Hear Musical Program Without Receiving Sets

Mysterious music that "came out of a clear sky" baffled four road workers near Didsbury, Alta., about 40 miles southeast of Edmonton. They said it was a radio program from Edmonton but there were no receiving sets "for five miles around" where they were working.

Started by the music, A. J. Thorley, R. Gjerde, H. Vergette and R. Fletcher, though there might be an automobile in the vicinity but search revealed nothing.

They proceeded to a farm house more than a mile distant where they found Mrs. G. Sanstrom who claimed she had also heard the music but had feared to mention it, thinking people might wonder about her sanity.

As the workers were making further "investigations," the music ceased as suddenly as it had started, they reported. The music had continued as they walked toward the distant farm home.

The program from nowhere eclipsed the story of the day; and, farmers who heard melodies from his stove, and other reports of tunes coming from kitchen sinks.

I used to dread walking upstairs, now I am very thankful to say it is no trouble at all and I scarcely have any pains. I feel better in health than I have done for years." (Mrs.) G.M.

A Cheerful Note

The Lethbridge Herald says the spectre of southern prairie cattle dying by thousands this winter is vanishing. A lot of our cattle have gone to markets east, west and south, some for immediate slaughter and the rest for feeding. The open fall has served to allow those still on hand to find their own living. It would appear that we are going to come out of the livestock situation better than we thought.

Forgery losses in 1928 were estimated at $200,000,000.

In 2 seconds by simply watch, an "Aspirin" tablet starts to disintegrate and go to work! Drop an "Aspirin" tablet into a glass of water. By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is disintegrating. What happens in this case . . . happens in your stomach.

Ask Your Doctor About "ASPIRIN"

Any person who suffers from pains of rheumatism should know this: Two "ASPIRIN" tablets, taken with a full glass of water, will usually ease even severe rheumatic pains in a remarkably short time.

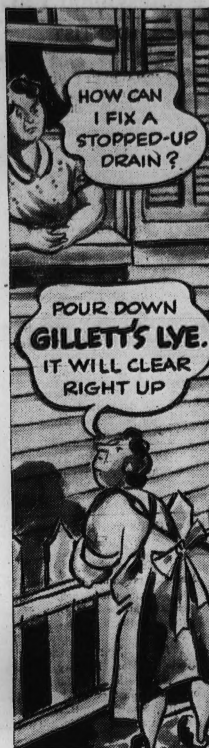

Ask your doctor about this. He will probably tell you there is nothing better. For "Aspirin" tablets not only offer a potent analgesic (pain reliever), but start going to work almost instantly you take them. Note illustration of glass.

Try this simple way. You'll be surprised at how quickly pain eases. "Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Thou Shalt Not Love

— A NOVEL BY —
GEORGIA GRATO

"Her lips mocked; 'You don't mean a home and babies?'" Michael said, grimly: "That's exactly what I do mean! It should be the ideal of every man and woman. I know that it is mine! Fine sons—beautiful daughters—"

Michael, caught in a tide of emotion which he hardly understood himself, did not notice that Starr was shivering.

In imagination a parade passed before her eyes. Sturdy little men with clear gray eyes like Michael's; little girls with yellow hair like Stephanie's. A terrible pain twisted her heart. For a second she lost all consciousness of the daring role she had elected to play. The doomed Starr Ellison saw the ghost of her forbidden happiness.

In imagination, too, she was transported back to that musty, three-thousand-year-old tomb with its damp, bright-painted walls, and the voice of John Lessing was drowning the curse of Tut-Amen-Ra.

"Thou—and thy children—and thy children's children—"

With a tremendous effort of will she shook herself free of her morbid memories. She could not afford to remember. There was no Starr Ellison who was cursed—doomed. It was the soulless "Play-Girl" who laughed into Michael's face.

"Hassan—how quaint! You do belong in an Arabian Night's tale, don't you? Girls don't have babies these days, do they?"

"I guess your kind don't!" A spell was snapped. The battle was on again. Drawn daggers flashed. Michael said scathingly:

"I'm a fool—a double-dyed fool! I was trying to talk to you in a language you don't understand! I should take you for what you are, just like every other man who accepts your careless favors! Perhaps, after all, I was right in the first place, and better—it is the language you understand—better—it certainly must be more familiar to you!"

He pulled his car up to the curb before her apartment house so suddenly that Starr was almost jolted out of her seat. Insensibly she swayed a little toward him. His hand went out to aid her—and instead he caught her into an embrace so savage that it hurt her. His arms held her roughly while his kisses rained on her ice-cold face, wiped the mockery from her scarlet mouth. They were the rough, hard, ruthless kisses of a man who wanted to hurt the one he holds in his arms, but even so, in the depths of her subconsciousness Starr was afloat in a warm sea of unknown, strange delight. Kisses—Michael's kisses—which bruised heart as well as lips. Breathless, she pulled away, staring at him in fright from the deep pools of her dark eyes. She did not speak. Nor did Michael.

With a swift gesture Starr opened the door and slipped from the car. Instantly Michael's foot was on the starter, the car roared at his touch on the accelerator, and he rounded the corner and was out of sight before Starr could catch her breath. As she stepped into the elevator and felt it shoot skyward, she felt that all her courage, too, was synthetic as herself. It was ebbing away in an ebb of terror. How was she ever going to stand the bitterness of it? Six months now seemed an eternity.

CHAPTER IX.

Starr came from her rose-hued, lute-scented bath. Her skin was flushed from her brisk towelings, but she felt cold inside. Cold with the remembrance of Michael's kisses.

Other men had kissed "Play-Girl." That was to be expected. How could she help it, with her reputation? That was all part of the stage props. Lance had kissed her, Tod Ranger—others. But none of them had ever inspired her with the intense feeling that Michael's kisses did. The deep thrill that had shaken her body, making her blood race along like fire, was something she had never imagined.

She sat down before her triple mirrors over her lace-draped dressing table, drawing a filmy negligee about herself. She had allowed herself barely enough time to dress for Tod's party. She always did that. The only life possible for her was continual rushing from one party to another, from one thrill to another, from one man to another! Michael had made that possible in making her "Play-Girl" and ever since her first appearance as the author of the notorious book there had been no lack of invitations. Society, the madly-rushing, heedless, decadent younger set, had opened arms to her. She went everywhere; life was a whirl. Which was what she wanted it to be.

She was afraid to be alone, afraid of the solitude of her own thoughts.

So she sought forgetfulness, crowding into her days and nights a world of synthetic emotions, in a feverish attempt to recompense her real self, not the synthetic one she had become, for the one genuine emotion which must be denied. Love!

In the set to which Michael and the Tarrance Publishing Company had introduced her they played; they danced; they kissed; they made violent love which was not love at all. They did not truly love—any of them. And though she was capable of it, she must not.

She pressed her fingers against her throbbing temples, the deadly weariness that she always felt in these quiet, frightening moments dragging at her limbs again. How long could she keep it up? Michael had sensed and spoken more truly than he knew. Lance was becoming more and more difficult to handle. He wanted more than kisses. And now there was Michael... Michael? She dared not think of Michael.

"Thou Shalt Not Love," was to Starr as real a command as though it blazed before her eyes in words of fire.

Her comfortably proportioned colored serving woman's voice disturbed her thoughts.

"What's all the matter, Miss Starr?" the woman wanted to know. "Is somebody doing hurt your feelings? You look so all kind o' tuckered out and like you don't care for nothin'!"

Starr lifted her head to smile at the woman. She was grateful for her companionship, certain here of a loyalty she found nowhere else. Her maid's concern was real. Michael, of course, had thought Starr should have an Arab woman, to be in keeping with the rest of her lay-out, but they had compromised on a negress who looked like a blackamoor. She was from North Carolina and her name was Sapphira, enough like the Arabic Saffiyeh, if it came to that, to suit anybody. She cared not at all about being a synthetic Arab, but she did care—and boasted of it continuously in Harlem—about the collection of silver bangles and bright-hued headresses she was allowed to wear, instead of the usual uniform other colored maids had to assume. She did not care so much for the mushrabiyyeh windows. They made it a bit hard to see what was going on in the world, and Miss Starr was always gadding off some place.

Starr told Sapphira: "No, nobody's hurt my feelings. I've just got a good case of the heebie-jeebies, I guess, Sapphira. Life seems to be a useless sort of thing."

The colored woman shook her head. "What I 'spects, Miss Starr, is that you-all are burnin' your candle both ends too much. What you need is to fall plumb in love with jes' one o' these men that's runnin' after you so much, an' git married... That's what..."

Little Helps For This Week

Thou shalt guide me with Thy counsel, and afterwards receive me to glory. Psalm 73:24.

Guide us through life, and when at last we enter into rest, Thy tender arms around us cast, And fold us to Thy breast.

Go forth to conquer the trials of existence believing in a Shepherd of your souls. Then faith in Him will support you in duty, and duty firmly done will strengthen faith. Then when the strife of the earthly battle fades and you hear instead the musical sound of the ocean of eternity, your faith will raise the song of conquest, and its forward glance upon the life to come will take up the inspiration of the Hebrew King. "Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

SPORTS

The hockey game on Saturday evening was a sizzler. The radios in town and country produced more excitement than a bucking broncho, as Foster flapped his tongue into the mike, while he chased the puck with his eye. The cheers of the crowd showed the boiling enthusiasm of the rink-side fans. There was no indication of the heart thumpings of the radio fans. Yet probably if some means were provided of collecting all those thumps the resulting total would drown out the noise of the arena. Those New York Americans may be orphans so far as ownership goes, but they worked as though they wanted some "papa" to claim them as good children.

Much local interest was taken in the contest between Jack Tebo and Ford Smith. Jack is known here, and Dempsey rated him as one of the most promising boxers in the Dominion. There was keen disappointment when Smith got the arm-lift by the referee. The crowd did not see it the way the judges did, and expressed their disagreement at the time and since.

Copper of the Bulletin tells of a visit to the hotel of Ford Smith: "I got a new idea for a story of 'The Prize-fighter and the Lady' when I called on Ford Smith, the rising American heavyweight, the night before his bout here with Jack Tebo. There were several parties going on in hotel rooms as I walked the corridor, for it was only a few minutes after ten o'clock—and everybody knows that prizefighters stay up till the small hours of the morning. His room was dark, and I did a rather silly thing—I tapped on the door. I heard a voice mumbled inside, then the door opened and he asked me in. There he was—215 pounds of masculinity, attired in pyjamas.

As he switched on the light over the bed, I saw he had not been alone. There, asleep with her flaxen hair on the pillow was a lovely little blonde whom I had never seen in town before. She was obviously not his wife. I've an eye for beauty, sleeping or otherwise, and when he saw I was getting an eyeful, Ford pulled back the sheets carefully, so as not to wake her, to let me see her soft limbs as they protruded from a gorgeous set of geranium-colored, flower-decorated satin pyjamas. "She's very modest," said Ford. "She didn't like me to unbutton her dress tonight before a couple of men. I like to take her round with me on fight, though a couple of years ago when I was fighting Art Lasky, she tried to climb into the ring in the middle of a round. She's four and a half—going on five—my eldest. Isn't she sweet?"

The big chap who went ten rounds with Primo Carnera, and who is heading for the top ranks in American fistiana, had been looking after her like a mother on the stage from Montana. "I thought she'd like the trip into Canada, and I like having her with me," he explained.

Thos. G. Dark, eyesight specialist, will make his next visit here as follows: Irma Drug Store, 9.30 to 12; Viking, 12.30 to 3 p.m., on Wednesday, November 25th. Make your appointment now. Dark's glasses relieve eye strain, strengthen the sight and save your eyes. Special attention given to children's eyes.

TO PROSECUTE SHORT WEIGHT GRAIN BUYERS

Unlicensed Dealers Bring Complaints In North.

Calgary.—Complaints about short weights and non-payment for wheat being purchased by unlicensed dealers through Alberta have been received at the offices of the board of grain commissioners here and prosecutions will follow. W. H. Blachford stated today upon his return from a trip through the northern section of the province.

At Didsbury, Mr. Blachford said an unlicensed buyer had been operating and several farmers had complained of non-payment following delivery. At Leduc some buyers purchasing grain from the farm and trucking it into town are reported to be "chiseling" on weights.

One farmer complained a load of 125 bushels had returned him only the price of 115 bushels; another in the same district stated he had been "short-changed" as high as 20 bushels on a truckload and other complaints were along similar lines.

The major difficulty, Mr. Blachford states, is on the part of the farmers themselves in selling to men not licensed by the board and consequently not bonded.

The Grain Act specifies that all buyers must be licensed and bonded, and the board commissioner would, and farmers selling grain to other than recognized sources should be careful in that regard.

In any event precaution should be taken in event of sale to unknown truckers, to be sure and have some reliable person in town verify delivery weights.

HUMANITY CRIES FOR PEACE

—The King
"Only a few of us on parade this morning have known the awful weight of war with all its horrors, yet all its comradeships, during the world struggle twenty-five years ago.
"With all my heart I hope and, indeed, I pray that never again will our age and generation be called on to face such stern and terrible days.
"Humanity cries out for peace and an assurance of peace, and you will find in peace opportunities of duty and service as noble as any that bygone battlefields can show." — From a stirring message given the troops during the presentation of colors, July 16th.

IN FLANDERS' FIELDS

In Flanders' fields, the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly
Scarce heard amid the guns below
We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders' fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from falling hands, we throw
The torch. Be yours to lift it high!
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies blow
In Flanders' fields.

—Lt.-Col. John McCrae.

The World of Wheat

By H. G. L. Strange, Director
Research Dept., Scarb. Grain
Company, Limited

The 250 million bushels of wheat which Canada hopes to export annually has to compete on the markets of the world with a vast quantity of other foodstuffs.

It is calculated that the 2,000 million people in the world consume each year in round numbers foodstuffs as follows: Potatoes, 8,000 million bushels; wheat, 5,600 million; rice, 5,300 million; rye, millet and spelt together, 1,930 million bushels.

In addition 10,500 million bushels of corn, barley, oats and mixed grains are fed to livestock and produce the equivalent of about 2,000 million bushels of livestock products such as meat, eggs, butter, cheese, milk and cream.

Then there are consumed either directly or through livestock large amounts of beans, lentils, rapeseed, ground nuts, linseed, sesame, cotton seed, hemp seed, copra, palm kernels, fish, game, vegetables, fruit and pasture grasses.

Or, it means that on the average, each person in the world consumes annually the following: Potatoes, 4 bushels; wheat, 2.8 bushels; rice, 2.6 bushels; rye, millet and spelt, 1 bushel; livestock products, 1.1 bushels; fish, game and vegetables, fruits and other cereals, 3 bushels, making a total of 14.5 bushels of foodstuffs each person consumes per annum, of which it will be noted that wheat forms one-fifth.

Factors that have tended to raise prices have been: Poor prospects in Australia; Italy purchasing Argentine wheat heavily; serious lack of sub-soil moisture in the U.S.A., northwest and western Canada; price of gold advancing; Japanese wheat crop estimates lower; increase in Argentine flax acreage; sale of diamonds from South Africa increasing considerably.
